

McKinley is a community within a larger community, (Honolulu and the Territory of Hawaii) and so we have a responsibility for following certain rules wherever we are--at school or in town.

How Are Our McKinley Laws Made

Since we are democratic here we try to make laws that will help the largest number of persons. Also, every citizen of McKinley helps to make new laws, has an opportunity to criticize the ones we already follow, and to do away with such as seem useless or poor.

We expect every McKinley student to understand our laws because we know that throughout our territory, there are many people who break laws because they say they do not understand them.

Here at McKinley, study your laws, help make better ones, and when you are through school, take your part in the community and see that the laws do what they are supposed to do in a democracy.
